If you don't have Internet connection, you can add the movie links that you download to a local database. The application uses a database to store the movie links. It will look for it in the location you specify in the settings (default is application data). The database is saved to a directory that you specify in the settings. You can use Movie Database lite as a repository of movie links. You can use all the links that are in the database to download all the movies that they link to. You can setup the default browser in the Settings application. The application is intended to be a very simple downloader. I added some features only after the app got popular so that I would not have to improve it to often. You can use the database to download the links, so I should not have to change the code much.
