Monitor your network, check out active connections, view relevant host info, send pings, scan for IPs and more. NetInfo Review NetInfo Full Version Viewed 4033 times - Add your review NetInfo is a simple-to-use application that enables you to view and analyze various pieces of information related to your network, as the name implies. It mainly addresses expert users, such as network administrators. View relevant host info right on startup After a quick and uneventful installation procedure that does not require special input from the user, you can check out the small and plain interface, which consists of a single window and multiple tabs. You can get useful information on your host, such as the user name, Winsock version, high version and description, system status, external IP address and network adapter. Send pings and monitor active connections In addition, you can check out all active connections, namely the protocol and local address for each running process, Ping or TraceRoute a host, look up a query, use the Finger and Whois functions, synchronize the system time with the one of a server, scan for IPs, and others. Details can be saved to file (e.g. HTML) for further evaluation, or you can just print them. Furthermore, you can save the current settings, copy or paste information, as well as customize options for each tool. To end with NetInfo is low-demanding when it comes to the CPU and system memory, using minimal resources. It has a good response time and carries out scan tasks rapidly. No error dialogs have been shown in our tests, and the tool did not hang or crash. All in all, NetInfo provides a user-friendly environment for diagnosing various network-related issues. But Johnson said he was not given any prior notice, which he insists was by design. "I wasn't given the opportunity to go to [agent] Mike Murray and talk about it," Johnson said. "There was no discussion. I don't know how it worked out. He says he doesn't want to go to the media. [Assistant general manager] Dan [Duquette] didn't even know I was coming to the park. Nobody gave me a heads-up. It was a surprise. I just got a phone call." The dismissal of Johnson, whom the Nationals hired in November 2004 as the club's third manager after replacing Frank Robinson, comes two days after the Nationals dropped a 6-5 loss to the Mets in New York. The Nationals will attempt to rebound Wednesday in Colorado against the division rival Rockies. "The bottom line is, Davey wasn't doing the job," Duquette said. "At some point, you have to make a decision and move on." Johnson said
