The TIS-100 is a parallel computer architecture built with heterogeneous nodes, all loosely linked together. The game's puzzles are inspired by computing science challenges, abstracted as nested node problem domains. You must write code to rewrite system state, and discover node relationships, to explore and reveal the game's codebase. The TIS-100 is a full-featured, open-ended game with more than 45 puzzles and 3 sandbox modes that are dynamically generated with a game-theory based puzzle solver. My wife didn't protest, although she knows I have always worked very hard on this book and feels it is time I take a break.
