- "The World just feels living, the monsters aren't 2D bullet pocking monsters they feel so much like this world that you are in. The huge open world of Ryssa, now Ryssa is made very alive and it's definitely not for kids this game can be quite addictive if you like that type of game that makes you jump out of your seat and make you excited to explore" - - "The graphics are, no doubt, simple, but they still live up to that title of anime. The storyline is very simple, but that doesn't mean that it's not enough of a plot. You don't get too much of it, but it goes well and can be understood. You fight with your sword to reach your ultimate goal." - - "If you're a fan of dungeon crawlers, I would highly recommend you to purchase this game, I had a blast playing it for hours." - - "RUROUNI KENSIN is one of the few gaming franchises that, for better or worse, has decided to make a return" - - "Finally, the epic conclusion of the most requested and long-awaited trilogy." - - "You will discover a story that has been long awaited by fans as old as those who are still in elementary school." - - "This is my favorite game ever!" - bff6bb2d33 points, however, are refunded by the old system. In this case, you would get your Vuepoints refunded. We will also close this case for `General investigation of the library system for the usage of other (much older) client sites, because the other servers were most likely affected by this issue.` Edited: It was found out that there have also been brute force attacks targeted to specific movie pages, mainly the screener pages. I have closed the cases linked there. However, I still encourage users to report brute force access to one of the now empty report pages. The Sharepoint installation seems to have been compromised over the weekend, and I have been unable to log in. Please take steps to clean up your posts made in this time period (presumably by members of your site). I have given up on trying to clean it up entirely for now, but next time it happens, you can just do a mass download/mass restore of the site. As a result of writing a complaint, a Vue customer support member erased over 30 of my colleagues' account information, including their SFR, SFU, SPs, and their "favorite movies."

After chatting with @dgctimms, @Houba, and @mrsupervixen, it turns out that the problem is the server itself, and not my computer or the browsers. It is possible that the existing computer might cause headaches while typing " into an address bar, but the computer should be able to work normally in other aspects. I will try to change some scripts so that the IP will be used exclusively for SV.

Thanks to @wuxxu2001's help, I was able to use a different computer.

I just logged in to my SV account using my #msshade SFR, but it could not work until I got the free account SFR.

Primary Sjögren's syndrome complicated by panuveitis associated with tuberculosis. Primary Sjögren's syndrome (SS) is a systemic autoimmune disease of unknown etiology. Tuberculosis is a major etiologic agent for a systemic disease in Taiwan. Primary SS commonly associated with tuberculosis, however, has not been reported. We treated a 40-year-old woman who had panuveitis in both eyes for SS complicated by tuberculosis. After corticosteroid therapy, the uveitis subsided. We suggest that both SS and tuberculosis should be considered in the differential diagnosis of panuveitis. Q: Making Flask server more user friendly I am in the process of learning flask to make a login screen for my website. I have been reading through this tutorial but I would like to know what are the problems of using flask, and how can it be improved? A: Flask's documentation about security and authentication is very comprehensive and quite easy to follow. There's also an example when you develop the app. I assume you're using flask-login for authentication. This library will generate login pages in a very neat way. As for the login process, I like this one where you get the user's credentials (username and password) from a post request and then send a success or failure response to the client. You don't have to send the credentials to the server with the response. User enters their credentials: User submit credentials The flask-login uses some code to authenticate the credentials The success or failure response is sent
