Check out these videos and find out more information about the game's newly introduced motion capture technology and gameplay! Players FIFA 22 includes a number of newly created player classes, including the following: All-Stars: "All-Stars" are true superstars with undeniable skills but also a lot of natural weaknesses, which makes the game more realistic. A true physical specimen can cause problems even for players with great skill. Capsules: Speed isn't everything, and in FIFA 22 players with different game mechanics and attributes are also incorporated in the game as Capsules. Capsule players provide an interesting dynamic and bring a new style of play to the game. Fast: Fast players are skilled but they often lack control. Their movement capabilities are significantly higher than the other classes, but they struggle in long balls and with aerial duels. Geniuses: Think of "Geniuses" as the "Frank Lampard" of soccer player: exceptional talent, but also very high-risk. Spartan: Spartan players are made to be tough, aggressive and very tactically gifted but they often lack control and agility. They are excellent dribblers but also have a tendency to make mistakes in vital situations. Superstitions: Superstitions are the tougher, more skillful players that are not afraid to use tactics and schemes the opponents don't normally see. Despite their technical proficiency, they are very much a risky player to play as they can make some very silly mistakes.
