Asbury Park Police issued more than 11,000 tickets during the 2014 Summer Concert Season, out of the total number of tickets issued by the Police Department this summer. Asbury Park Police also compiled 63,000 calls for service since May 21, 2014. "Though the 2015 Summer Concert Season has yet to begin, the Police Department has already exceeded our early projection of 10,000 tickets," said Chief Tom Comey. "Our year-to-date ticket volume nearly matches last year's total, and it's great to see the number of attendance at the dozens of concerts that we work with each year." The Summer Concert Season totals include 11,122 tickets, 63,554 calls for service and 8,817 arrests. For a full list of the season's top recipients, click here.

Alzheimer's disease (AD) is the most common neurodegenerative disorder in the world, affecting 5-10% of all individuals over the age of 65. Although the general consensus is that AD involves neurodegeneration, the origins of the disease are unknown and there is no cure or definitive treatment to prevent or slow the progression of the disease. The difficulty in treating AD has arisen because it is a complex pathology, involving progressive neurodegeneration, amyloid deposition, tangle formation, neurofibrillary degeneration and neuronal cell death (Alzheimer's Disease Association, 2010). Currently, drugs that are approved for the treatment of AD are only capable of slowing or arresting the neurodegeneration; they are not capable of reversing the disease process in the brain. Drugs that enhance brain repair may be an attractive strategy for AD treatment, both because they are capable of removing the disease-causing lesions, and because they may activate endogenous plasticity to replace the damaged tissue. The overall goal of this project is to investigate how neural progenitor cells (NPCs) are capable of replacing the neurons that are lost in AD. Furthermore, we will investigate whether stimulating NPCs in patients can improve brain function, both by removing the disease-causing lesions and by restoring function to the brain. We will test the hypothesis that restoring brain function by stimulating endogenous NPCs is a promising approach for the treatment of AD. We will stimulate

There is no other I can take the time to write about and promote than that of the people that grew up in this town and did not see the opportunity to get out or do anything else. When you leave here you need a regular day to day life, to have a job and support yourself, I strongly believe we would have more active underground music out of this town and less mainstream and hateful activity, if we all had something to look forward to everyday other than work and drudgery. Producing music in the underground requires someone to be engaged in activities that are socially beneficial. There is no money to be made in this type of activity. People with a lot of passion but without means to feed that passion through means other than commissioning music is why there are no talents that have exploded on the scene here. I'm not saying all underground musicians are so, just the ones that have the opportunity to do something else, but it's pretty rare. If you are here to get your career started, you need to be actively engaged in all aspects of the business, this means getting a job, having decent funds to pay your band, and open your own bar or studio, this alone will insure you get the exposure you need to get noticed. With my beige I am not saying you need to have a career, this isn't a career blog. If you have a hobby and it is beneficial to your community, that would be enough. For those that don't have that, an internship in a local record label or store, even if it is minimum wage can give you valuable experience in a very fast paced environment. The music community is an active one, so if you want to be successful, you need to participate
