* Illustrator: The power of layers in Illustrator goes even further than in Photoshop because layers are constantly linked to a master file. This makes it easier to make updates to the file as you go through the illustration process.

Illustrator is a vector-based drawing program. It enables artists to manipulate illustrations with the Pen tool and powerful drawing and vector tools. Most interface elements in Illustrator are based on paths, which make it easy to edit illustration shapes and drawing lines. Adobe loves to call Illustrator its vector graphics editor. You can create and manipulate vector shapes, lines, and paths with this application, and you can use the Pen tool to draw directly on paths. Illustrator supports transparency, blending, perspective corrections, and coloration effects for flat object and path graphics.

You can use the Raster Image Editing tools to bring raster imagery into the Illustrator workspace.

Illustrator is the standard graphics tool for Windows and Mac. There are also specialized tools that are designed specifically for Windows and Mac users, such as the Adobe Fireworks for Windows and Illustrator for Mac. Adobe promotes Illustrator as a tool for professionals. Beginners can use it to build simple illustrations for web, print, and more, and it's a great alternative to Photoshop for working with intricate and complex illustrations. It has strong features for manipulating and fine-tuning vector graphics, making it the most efficient application for building professional illustrations.

Dreamweaver

Dreamweaver is an all-around web design application that can help you create websites, create and maintain hyperlinked documents, create and update images, and more. Dreamweaver is a popular application in the web design community because it gives you more control over how websites look than some of the other applications we discuss in this list. After you master Dreamweaver and have a handle on how to create an attractive web page, you can help your clients by using Dreamweaver to design their web pages. You can also design the individual pages and web pages as you create them. Dreamweaver is a program that lets you save and share everything you create in one place. Think of Dreamweaver as a web designer's paintbrush. You can use it to build web pages by clicking and dragging elements, including text, images, and documents, into the final design. You can use Dreamweaver to edit images within the file. You can even insert HTML from the code window and

KITTY HAWK RINGS: TULSA, Okla. □ For almost three decades, the U.S. and Iran have been locked in an undeclared conflict over Tehran's pursuit of nuclear weapons. A decade of debate, diplomacy and, finally, sanctions have done little to slow it down. Now a U.S.-funded missile defense system called the "Arrow," made by Israeli arms exporter Rafael, has been installed in the Persian Gulf to protect oil platforms and other sensitive installations from a possible Iranian missile attack. Sen. Jim Inhofe, R-Okla., says the military and political costs of sending the missiles to the gulf is too high. "There are fewer consequences of keeping (missile defense) in Europe," he says, citing the Libya and Iraq conflicts, "but the consequences of keeping it here are extremely serious." (AP)

"Beth's the miracle worker," a payee said as he walked her into the county courthouse in Belton. Judge Bryan Collier set an Aug. 2 restitution hearing for the two women. They are to have to pay $3,000 to cover damage to the victim's mother's home. Another $8,000 will go toward restitution for medical expenses. Collier said the women were close to paying off their $11,000 outstanding restitution on previous cases in Mason, Whitewright and Bosqueville. "I'm really pleased with that," he said. They will pay an additional $500 each to the victims' family in each case. Collier said the women realize their actions changed people's lives forever and the victims have to be compensated. "I want to see them do very well," he said. Judge Collier said about five defendants were victims in this case. Three women who appeared in court were immediately led away, as is the custom. Deputy sheriff Joe Hall said four more defendants are scheduled for court later this month. Hall said the defendants' lawyers will probably ask for early hearings because of jail overcrowding. This type of behavior is typical for the clerk's office, he said. "This is very typical of what goes on here," he said. Deputy sheriff Jack Davis agreed. He said he has encountered the same problem with the same defendants.Q: What is the best way to show my gratitude for a vendor who made a choice on my behalf? I recently discovered that a vendor I had been working with has several products I would like to purchase (and I have been a customer for a while), however, they only sell to one customer and that vendor already chose that particular vendor for this particular product. I do not want to burn any bridges and have already offered the vendor a few other products that are compatible with their products, so I would prefer to keep my good relationship with that vendor (and get a few more products in the future), but what is the best way to best show my gratitude and let them know I will be a customer of theirs regardless of what other vendors they purchase from? A: I would suggest sending a letter that you purchased the product and a brief description of why you are loyal to them. It's an easy way to show them your loyalty without burning any bridges. Dear
