I was checking out a Toontrack EZX on a forum and a guy asked if I could provide him the serial for the EZX 2 set. A metal machine was on a thread we had on our site as well, and I figured I would share the serial. It's fairly straight forward. The serial number is located in the ".pdf" document at the bottom of the page of the pdf that you can download. There are 6 numbers: 2 digits, 2 letters, and one digit. 2. Add the contents of this.zip file to your modern drum software, and click Install to install the expansion. 3. Select Metal-Core and click OK. Then select any drum type, and click OK. 4. Close EZDrummer, and select EZDrummer 2 from the left. Select any drum type, and click OK. 5. Click More Sounds, scroll down, and select Metal Machine EZX. 5. To start the expansion, click on EZX. 6. Click on Edit Sounds, scroll down and select the MIDI.xml file. 7. Go to Tools > MIDI Editor. 8. Check the boxes in the MIDI Editor Tools, and click Save. 9. Click on Export, and save the Exportable MIDI file to your computer. 10. Click on MIDI Editor, and under the MIDI File tab, click on Play. 11. Select the Exportable MIDI file, and click Open. 12. Select the Exportable MIDI file, and click Start. 13. Click Save as in the Export window, and save the.xml file to your computer. 14. Repeat these steps for the Exportable MIDI file that you created. 15. Check the box under Exported MIDI file in the Exportable MIDI file window. 16. Scroll down to the bottom of the Exportable MIDI file window, and click Export. 17. Click OK in the Export window, and save the.xml file to your computer. 18. You should now see the MIDI Editor with a.xml file in the menu. 19. Click the Exportable MIDI file, and click Start. 20. Repeat these steps for the other exportable MIDI file. 21. The MIDI files in the menu should now be hidden and replaced with the.xml files in the menu. 22. Close the
