In this video we'll take a look at the 10gen hosted MongoDB Migration tool, and how to use it to migrate a MongoDB database to Cloudflare Worker instances. Learn to schedule how often data migration occurs, as it is done automatically and you will be alerted when it's time to automate and when to manually migrate using the MongoDB migration tool. This video uses (1) the MongoDB deployment script and (2) the Cloudflare Worker API's backup and restore functions. MongoDB deployments are fully automated which will ensure you have the same data each week. Drinkaware and HSE use the same MongoDB replica set for all their environments, they keep it in-sync or out-of-sync as they are doing the weekly data migration too. Check out the video to learn more about migrating MongoDB databases. Use the MongoDB Migration tool to migrate from AWS to Worker Cloudflare.
