Ask HN: How to Start? - wengstrom Hi all, My friend and I have started a business, but we don't have any official "I am starting a company" business plan, etc. We have been doing well, generating some revenue. When we have fallen on our face, it's much harder for us to bounce back because we don't have any documentation of what we've done. I realize that it isn't my friends fault that they don't have any documentation, but I don't know where they should have started. What would be the easiest way to document what we've been doing? Do you have suggestions for us? Thanks for any thoughts you can offer! ===== gsiener I recommend you find a CPA or company that specializes in small businesses (or maybe you have an account with one of them).
