I'm in the southern Rhone and have always wanted to visit the Haut Brion estate. This year will be my first time actually visiting the vines. I have some questions: 1) could someone give some pics of the place? 2) I read in the wine.com forum that it was purchased by a NYC club and from what I hear, sold to a private French club. Can someone confirm? 3) I read that the Rothschilds had an apartment on the estate. Was this the old Rothschild apartment or the mansion? When will we see the old mansion? Do you know why it was never completed? Thanks so much for any input! There are no photos on my iPhone so for now, I just will have to rely on virtual walking tours on line. Here is one about the property and vineyards. Not sure about the NYC club. It was part of the Rothschild estate. The old house is no longer there. There is still a Baron's House, at the end of the garden, which is where the original Baron lived with his family. And there are a few other smaller houses. Although the new owners say the restoration project is complete there is still work to be done, so probably not ready to go public. For those who have been to the estate you know, the best time would be winter (April-October). The best way to get to the estate is to take the bus to Beaune, and then take one of the tours. There is a specific tour for the estate, which includes the Rothschild ancestral home. There is also a general tour of Burgundy, and can be
