but the situation in the year 1917 was very tricky: many industries had to be closed down, factory workers were being dismissed, those who could found themselves facing problems in their contracts or were asked to leave them on the spot. one businessman arrived in moscow in 1917, the secretary of the kerensky government, mark tsitsin, and asked the bankers and industrialists: "where are the jews? and where is the gold they have accumulated during the years?" at this point, mark tsitsin and the two other new ministers of the new russian government, potemkin and zhukovsky, were not interested in the answers, and simply asked the bankers: "how much gold are you holding in gold and gilt-edged securities?" they answered that they were holding around 15 to 20 million roubles.

some french journalists also wrote about the jewish mafia, but that was more of a metaphor. by definition, at this time, the jewish mafia was not organized and not very powerful. it was like voltaire once said: "he who knows why he is rich, knows why he is poor." the "jewish mafia" was not very visible in the fashion industry, the media, or big business. and above all, it did not work because everyone knew that it worked. so no one was in favor of its expansion. the so-called jdl, otherwise known as the jewish defense league, was formed in 1973. its origins date back to the late 1960s, when the extreme right wing began to organize, and the far right wing/militia group called the bbb (bikers against bolshevism). at the same time, the jewish fringe group, the zionist movement, was also growing. now, it is well-known that the story of the zionist movement is the story of the israeli state. for more than fifty years, it was tiny, marginal, yet influenced by the "jewish mafia." most historians of zionism agree that the zionists were influenced by the american-jewish mafia, the aipac and the cia.
