Adobe Photoshop Elements 2019 version 19.0.3 introduced more new updates to the software's artificial intelligence. With Sensei, your images are 'trained' so they can learn to recognize objects and create more original-looking images. Examples of this approach include providing different exposures, or automatically correcting for the lighting of objects in the scene. An AI super power enables Photoshop to create faces from layers of images in a single change. This capability is only available in Photoshop, not Photoshop Elements. Unfortunately, it's not yet ready to use. You have to enable this AI feature and load a series of images into the Program. After that, Photoshop can learn the faces in those images and apply the effect to the selected section of the face. In essence, you're doing what a computer can do, but Photoshop does it so much quicker, and it works really well. Just press Ctrl+0 and flip through the images you want to use. To help you jump into the pain of organizing is pretty easy to do in Photoshop. Find the Image > Adjustments panel > Curves. It's located along the top of the program window. From there, you can make adjustments to the way black and white areas of your photo are. You can also add color tones to your image. The controls for each of these are extremely accessible and easy to work with. Designers use Adobe Photoshop every day, but it doesn't need to be part of a big studio. Adobe provided free options for commercial use of its design apps, which means that you can launch a web page, newsletter, video, and more at zero cost. Some of the networking and design capabilities that you can get at zero cost include food labeling and masking, scalable vector graphics for stationery, and interactive simulation in your web pages. For educators, the benefit is real: you get free courseware, education-specific enhancements like tools for the ASL community, and more. But you can still get your hands on Adobe Design apps.
