The Lens Blur Effect is a cool filter feature that was introduced to Photoshop a couple of years back. After Adobe purchased several software companies, they merged all these software into one. So the updates in the IT category merged Photoshop with Illustrator and Photoshop with InDesign. In late 2019, Adobe released Photoshop CC 2020. CC (Creative Cloud) version of the software has various improvements and features beyond what its version had. With new features, Photoshop CC is able to do amazingly amazing maskings. Since the image editing software offered improved masking features, Photoshop CC users now have the ability to mask both horizontal and vertical lines. The lines can be masked using the improved masking feature in Photoshop CC. In order to give the Lens Blur effect better control, the same feature was made to work both horizontally and vertically.
